

What is the Heart Transplant Registry?

The heart transplant registry is based in Adelaide, South Australia

A person in your hospital team tells the heart transplant registry about your treatment and operation.

These bits of information about all kids needing transplants are joined together in a computer.

Heart transplant registry people use this information to help answer questions about heart transplants.

Answering these questions can help your hospital team provide care for kids needing a heart transplant.

People who look after kids and adults with heart disease needing transplant got together.

This team want to help your hospital team look after heart kids better.

